About Blue Prism Community

Blue Prism Community is a new and exciting platform where you can engage with other Blue Prism users who share a common interest, goal and objective. Whether you're a developer looking to share best practices, knowledge and insight, a customer or a partner wishing to be a source of input for upcoming Blue Prism products, or just someone looking to engage in open and innovative technical conversation, Blue Prism Community is where to do it.

Get in the know, with open access forums.

The Blue Prism Community and Digital Exchange (DX) Community Forums are open to everyone, and easy to navigate. Drop in and say hello, and get up to speed on important announcements and industry news in the Welcome Forum. Polish your skills in our Best Practices & Strategy Forum or discuss a new product in Tech Chat. Struggling with an asset on the Digital Exchange? The DX Forum is jam packed with answers, insight and tricks to help you maximize your DX experience.

Ready to create? Ideation is a big part of Community too. Share your ideas on new products, features and even how you would make Community even better.

Of course, don't forget to check out the Events Section to register for Community regional and industry meet-ups, Pulse and Café webinars, & other Blue Prism happenings!
